I. Aim of the Course:

The aim of this course is to enable the student to acquire the knowledge, skills and competence required to analyse the features of historical and socio-cultural milieu within which the English novel emerged and developed, to discuss the elements of realism and formal realism and to distinguish the genre from the previous literary modes. In this course, the major differences between the novel in the 18th century and the literary genres of previous ages are introduced and the cultural, economic and social elements influential in the development of the genre are evaluated. The subgenres of the novel are examined with reference to the theoretical, philosophical and social context of the period. To reach this end, the major novelists of the age and their important novels will be examined.

II.Textbooks:

Primary Sources:

Oroonoko (1688) by Aphra Benn
Robinson Crusoe (1719) by Daniel Defoe
Moll Flanders (1722) by Daniel Defoe
Excerpts from Pamela; or, Virtue Rewarded (1740) by Samuel Richardson
